

NABS

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BLACK STORYTELLERS

and Keepers Of The Culture
Present

The Way, We Tell It, Is The Way It Is!

“In The Tradition...”

PAUL ROBESON
A Rutgers athlete and Columbia law graduate, Robeson won renown as a singer and actor. He was a noted interpreter of Negro spirituals. His career suffered because of his political activism, and he lived his last years here in retirement.

THE AFRICAN AMERICAN MUSEUM IN PHILADELPHIA

FREEDOM THEATRE
Formerly the home of actor Edwin Forrest, later Philadelphia School of Dramatic Art, then in 1988, Freedom Theatre, a community-based Black theater for professional instruction in the theatrical arts.

Philadelphia Club of Jazz & Performing Arts

34th Annual National Black Storytelling Festival & Conference

November 1 - 6, 2016 in Philadelphia PA

Co-Founders:
Mother Mary Carter Smith
Mama Linda Goss

For more information visit us at:
www.NABSinc.org

The Authentic Voice Of Black Storytelling

